Headline:
Rain arriving today, with blustery winds.

Today:
Initially dry with patchy cloud, rain will reach coastal areas by mid-morning, pushing eastwards through the day. Rain turning showery later. Some locally heavy and potentially thundery downpours. Winds becoming blustery, particularly along the coast. Feeling cooler for many. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers continuing for many into the evening, before easing early in the night, although patchy rain still expected in some areas. Potential for fog to form overnight. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Friday:
There will be some sunshine on Friday. However, showers are also likely, these perhaps heavy and thundery giving some torrential downpours, especially during the afternoon and evening. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Remaining unsettled through the weekend, with showers turning heavy and perhaps thundery at times. Showers potentially becoming lighter on Monday.
